Dear Parent,

In 2005, Max Schewitz died without warning from a hidden heart condition. He was just 20. Now, the Max Schewitz Foundation's Heart Smart EKG screening helps find at-risk children so they can seek treatment and not share Max's fate.

Screening will be offered on Wednesday, September 27, 2017 to all Saint Viator students.

- Testing includes an EKG for all participants.
- Students selected by the cardiologist will also get an echocardiogram on test day at no cost.
- Only students with permission will be tested (online or oral on test day).
- Testing costs $15 per student.
- Please register your student online at <http://www.heartsmartekg.org/SVHS>. Because the heart changes over time, even previously tested students should register for testing.

The Max Schewitz Foundation has provided over 63,000 EKGs to area students.

- Testing is conducted during students' free periods, lunch periods or PE classes in private booths.
- Every effort is made to respect privacy and modesty. Testing takes place in individual booths, and boys are tested separately from girls.
- Cardiologist Eli Lavie, MD oversees all aspects of testing and interpretation.
- Results are confidential and are shared only with parents within 3 weeks after testing.
- Copies of the actual test are given to parents who register by the early deadline of 9/17/2017. Parents requesting a copy of the actual test after that date incur a $10 handling fee.

Please register online today: www.heartsmartEKG.org/SVHS

Volunteer! We need 50-75 parent volunteers to help with testing, and typically offer two 4 hour timeslots to volunteers. Volunteer on the website when you register your child.
